

Cincinnati Federal

Sweep/Overdraft Protection

If your checking account is overdrawn, we will automatically transfer the exact amount of available funds you need to cover the overdraft from your statement savings or checking account (the "Sweep Account") to your checking (the "Recipient Account"). If there is not a sufficient amount of available funds in your statement savings account to cover the overdraft then a transfer will not occur and you will incur applicable overdraft fees and/or your check may be returned unpaid.

Cincinnati Federal Sweep Account Number

Cincinnati Federal Recipient Account Number

I authorize Cincinnati Federal to withdraw from my savings or checking account, designated above as my sweep account, and transfer those funds to my Recipient Account as referenced above, to cover any overdrafts. I also release Cincinnati Federal from any liability resulting from such transactions. This authority is to remain in effect until Cincinnati Federal has received written notification from me of my intent to terminate this transfer. I also understand that non-personal withdrawals on a savings account are limited to 6 per month as according to Federal Regulation E and I understand that sweep would be included in those. Failure to comply with this limitation could result in notification from Cincinnati Federal.
